The Canyon News

VOL. 79 NO. 32 | CANYON, TEXAS | THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1975 | 12 PAGES | 15 CENTS

Twenty-five per cent of the registered Randall County voters cast ballots in the proposed new Texas Constitutional election Tuesday. All eight of the proposed amendments failed.

Revised Constitution fails in county

Randall County voters by a margin of almost three to one defeated eight proposed constitutional amendments Tuesday to help the rest of the state sink a revised new Texas Constitution.

For the first time in history, Randall voters cast more ballots than did Potter County voters, their neighbors to the north.

County Clerk Leroy Hutton used West Texas State University's computer to count 7623 votes cast in the county. There are more than 30,000 voters registered in the county, so 25.37 per cent went to the polls under bright blue skies.

Nearly 70 per cent of the local votes cast were against the eight proposed revisions.

The closest margin in the county was registered in the Canyon precincts, precincts 5,6, 7 and 23. In those precincts, which were combined for the special election, 22.29 per cent of the 5743 registered voters went to the polls at the Canyon community center.

A total of 1280 ballots were counted from the Canyon precincts. About 58 per cent of those voting cast ballots against all eight proposals while about 39 per cent cast ballots for all eight proposals.

In all other county precincts, the margin was wider.

Hutton said the voter turn-out Tuesday was the largest he's seen since elected in the 1960s for a special election.

In a special election last April, only 14 per cent of the registered voters went to the polls. A total of 18 per cent of the registered voters voted in the 1969 special election, for the highest percentage in recent years.

In no precincts in the county did any provision receive a favorable majority vote.

The proposals and how they fared here:

*The provision on separation of powers, executive and legislative branches, first on the ballot — 5248 or 68.8 per cent against; 2287 or 30 per cent for.

*Judiciary provisions, second

Todd opposition only one on file

Apparently only one Randall County resident expended funds locally to try to defeat the proposed new Texas Constitution which was defeated by voters at the polls Tuesday.

Campaign statements filed in the Texas Secretary of State's office in Austin indicate only Dr. Donald Todd, a music professor at West Texas State University, expended more than $100 in an effort to defeat the constitutional proposals.

A spokesman for the secretary of state's office said Todd filed a campaign expenditure statement in Austin last Friday indicating he had spent $104 for political advertising in the Amarillo newspaper during the election campaign.

The statement, which is required by a new state law which went into effect Sept. 1, apparently does not include the expenditure totals incurred by Todd to place two large outdoor signs in and around Canyon in opposition to the constitutional proposals. An inscription on both signs, one at 17th Street and 4th Avenue and the other about three miles north of Canyon on U.S. 87, says they were paid for by Todd.

The new state law requires that all expenditures of individuals of over $100 in any election campaign must be noted on a report form filed either with the county clerk or the secretary of state.

Records filed in the state office indicate Todd donated the $104 for the advertising from his own pocket.

They also indicate he was chairman of a political committee, the Texas Committee for the Constitution, Inc., which had no donations or expenditures during the period.

The office spokesman said no other expenditure reports were filed from Randall County for the election.

$6 million is bond issue figure

Canyon School Board members decided Tuesday night they will ask voters to approve a $6 million bond issue for construction of two new schools in the district.

Total cost of a new elementary school, a new high school and remodeling of Canyon High School will be $5,981,365, according to tentative figures presented by Architect B.R. Cantrell of Cantrell and Associates of Amarillo.

Voters will go to the polls Dec. 9 to decide whether the bonds for the projects should be issued.

Board members will formally call the election during a meeting Nov. 18.

Left unanswered after Tuesday's meeting were other cost figures to be supplied later by Financial Advisor Bob Davis of Underwood, Newhouse and Co., Inc.

Davis told the board they must make a decision on the hike of tax valuations for the school district's property before he can accurately figure a bond payment schedule and provide estimates on how much taxes will have to rise to meet the bonded indebtedness requirements which will be created by the bond issue.

A citizens committee has suggested the board raise the percentage of property tax assessment to 100 per cent rather than the 40 per cent charged now, to increase tax values.

Davis has said previously the board cannot issue more than $4.5 million in bonds for the projects until the tax valuations are increased.

Cantrell, terming his figures as accurate as possible, said a new high school will cost $4.65 million to build on a 60-acre site in the north part of the district.

That cost includes a 130,000 square foot main building with gymnasium and cafeteria, and a 4000 square foot field house. Actual construction cost will be $3.8 million with $250,000 added to the figure to accommodate probable price hikes in the next eight or nine months, he said.

Estimated cost of the structure, if it is built in late 1976, would be $4.06 million with an additional $270,000 added for furniture and equipment and $243,000 added for architect and engineering fees.

The new elementary school would cost a total of $1.4 million if constructed in May 1976. The cost includes a 42,000 square foot building, including cafeteria and all-purpose room.

Furniture and equipment would be $105,000.

A total of $254,000 is set aside in the $6 million total for remodeling of the present Canyon High building.

The remodeling figure would include remodeling of the library, the art department and science department, addition of a field house, addition of four tennis courts and architectural fees.

The estimated costs of the structures and the remodeling does not include fees which might be accrued for the purchase of an elementary school site, or for bringing sewer and water extensions to the site. A school bus shop and garage, bleachers for a football field and lawn sprinkler systems are not included in the total cost figures, either.

Supt. Jerry Jacobs told board members his staff had to cut original cost estimate figures to keep under a proposed ceiling of $6 million for the bond issue.

Cantrell said the costs figures are based on today's construction prices but also include a percentage factor for cost increases.

"I feel they are realistic figures," he said.

The vote on the $6 million figure was unanimous for board members.

Davis, who will work up the various election procedures and actions necessary for the Nov. 18 meeting, said he cannot present any formal tax figures or bonded indebtedness figures until the board decides on tax valuations for the coming year.

Current tax valuations stand at $74 million for the district.

Davis warned the board that both the Randall County Board of School Trustees and the Potter County Board of School Trustees must readjust the Canyon school district and Amarillo school district boundary lines in light of a recent Texas Education Commissioner decision before any bonds can be issued for new construction.

The education commissioner recently upheld a Randall County school trustee decision to allow 160 acres of CISD land to be annexed by the Amarillo school district.

The Randall board is to meet later this year to take action on the decision.

The school board decided that the voters will vote on only one question on the Dec. 9 ballot — whether they will approve issuance of the full $6 million for all three projects.

Davis advised against splitting the ballot and presenting to voters the opportunity to vote on issuing bonds for each of the school projects.

In other business, Mrs. James Madewell of Canyon attacked the board for its stand on hair regulations for students in the school district.

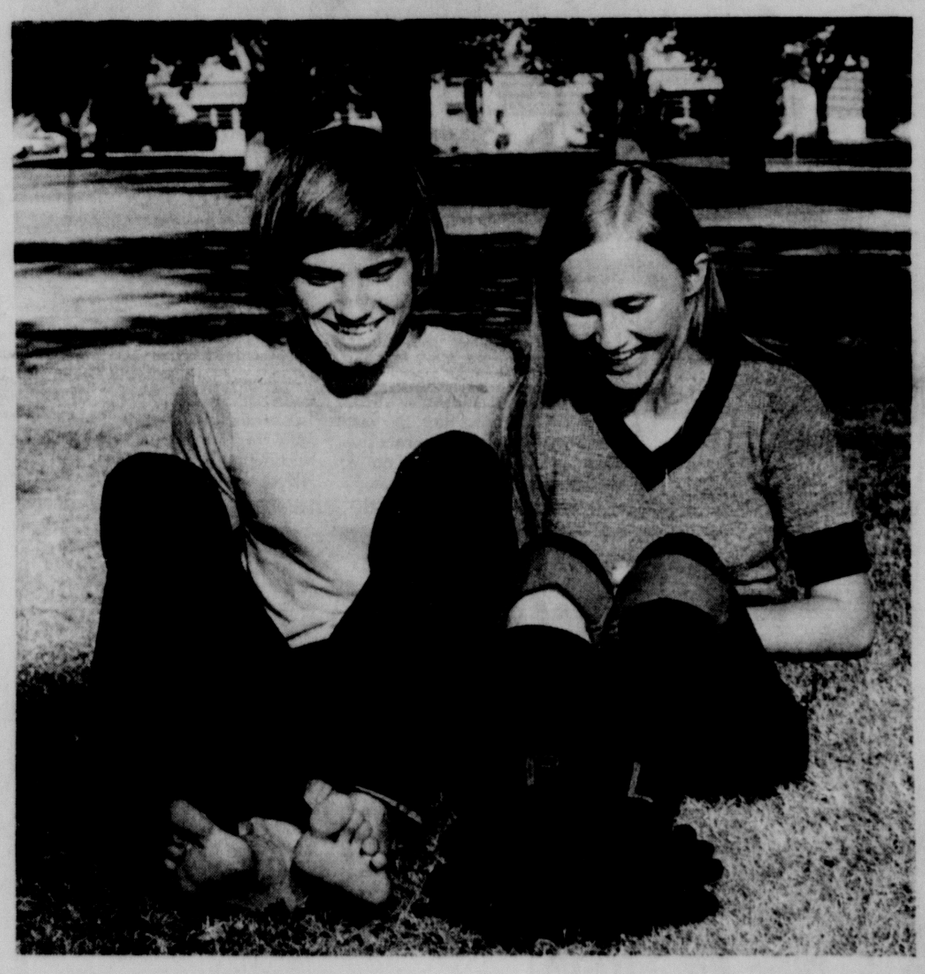

After a 10-minute summary of the number of hair code violations in the Canyon High School annual from last year, Mrs. Madewell accused the board of being "silly, arbitrary and unethical.

"It's none of your business how a child wears his hair," she said.

Mrs. Madewell, saying she found more than 2500 violations of the hair code in the CHS annual, charged that the school board allowed administrators to harass students during classes.

She charged that the new CHS policy of on-campus suspensions for hair code violations deprived students of their rights to call their parents. And, she said the only reason the on-campus sus-

Winter weather is on the way to Canyon and Hope Mays will be ready even down to her toes while Calvin DeWitt will be left out in the cold. DeWitt, Canadian freshman, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Must report expenditures

Schools to fund publicity drive

Publicity and advertising urging local residents to vote and to vote for a $6 million bond issue to build new schools here will be financed out of Canyon School District operating funds.

Supt. Jerry Jacobs said Tuesday the bulk of the advertising for the campaign prior to the bond election on Dec. 9 will be paid for by the CISD.

"I think it's a legal school expenditure for kids," Jacobs said. "I think without question they are the recipients of anything good that comes out of this."

Jacobs said he has not checked the legality of the CISD paying for the advertising because he never questioned its legality.

A publicity committee, made up of citizens and school officials and headed by Mrs. Vondean McGregor and Mrs. Ruth Holladay, mapped last week a full-scale publicity and advertising campaign in support of the bond issue.

County Clerk LeRoy Hutton said Tuesday it appears that the publicity committee must begin filing expenditure and donation statements in his office to outline how much money has been accepted and spent for the campaign under a new state law which went into effect Sept. 1.

The law, passed by the 64th session of the legislature, requires that committees planning to expend funds or collect funds in support of or against a measure to be presented the people on an election ballot must file the report statements.

The first letter in the anticipated campaign to promote the success of the bond issue went out over the signature of Jacobs this week and arrived at many homes in the city Wednesday.

Addressed simply to "Parents" in the salutation, the letter asks that the parents support the upcoming election.

It cites the overcrowded conditions in schools here and notes that the school board is currently planning toward a bond issue election to finance construction of two new schools.

"It is very important that we have the support of parents in this election," the letter states.

Another paragraph of the letter asks that the parents update their voter registration certificates. Registrations must be made before Friday.

"We urge your support in this election and in all our work toward quality education for the youth of our community," the letter closes.

The school district's publicity committee, which began meeting in September, has already produced a slide show which has been presented to more than 900

For four governments

Joint meeting established again

More than a year after they decided they had nothing further to talk about, the elected representatives of four governments in Potter and Randall counties will come together again next week in an informal discussion meeting.

Mayor John Drummond of Amarillo confirmed Monday he has asked commissioners from the city of Amarillo, the City of Canyon and Potter and Randall counties to meet together at noon Wednesday in Amarillo.

Drummond said the agenda for the meeting has not yet been set and commissioners from the four units are being polled for possible agenda items.

The commissioners of the four units suspended joint meetings in the spring of 1974 after meeting together every other month for nearly a year to discuss mutual problems.

The only reason given by commissioners involved at that time for the suspension of the meetings was the lack of discussion topics.

Drummond, who was elected Mayor last spring, said he wants to renew the joint meetings "just to get us together and working as a group."

He said he feels the meetings can be valuable.

"I think it can do a great deal as far as coordination of all our efforts," he said. "It would eliminate some duplication of efforts. We can certainly work better together and not as single units.

"This has been tried before and I think we can really get some good out of it."

Ray Vahue was mayor of the City of Amarillo at the time the joint meetings were tried before.

Randall County commissioners and Canyon city commissioners were informed of the scheduled joint meeting during their separate sessions Monday and only County Commissioner John

Reagan may be speaker for chamber banquet

Ronald Reagan, who is expected to announce later this month whether he will be a Presidential candidate, could well be the key speaker for the annual Canyon Chamber of Commerce in January or February, chamber directors were told Monday night.

Reagan, former governor of California and a former movie and television star, has been stumping the country recently and is expected to announce his candidacy on Nov. 17. He ran for governor of California on the Republican ticket.

Mrs. Lois Rice, a chamber director and local merchant, told other directors she had taken the liberty of calling Reagan's headquarters in California to invite the politician to speak to the annual banquet next year.

"We have a good chance of getting Ronald Reagan," she said. "They said it is very likely it can be worked out."

Mrs. Rice said she was not discouraged by the Reagan official she spoke to, but no official word on whether he will come will be given until after Reagan's announcement later this month.

She said if Reagan announces that he will be a candidate for the Presidency he will speak at the banquet at no charge. But, if he announces he will not become a candidate, he will speak with the chamber picking up only his expenses for the trip.

She said he is not booked for any speaking engagements from Jan. 1 on.

The banquet is usually held in January, February or March.

No decision will be made by the chamber board on the speaker until they hear from Reagan.

But, directors began worrying Monday night about where the banquet should be held. Chamber President Weldon Trice, predicting that as many as 2000 persons could be expected for the affair if Reagan speaks, suggested the large ballroom in the activities center on the West Texas State University campus.

Directors also discussed the possibility of not serving a meal for the annual affair, but having Reagan speak only.

Trice noted that Pampa's

Weekend rain too little to help thirsty wheat

Weekend rains, the first of substantial measurement since August, were not enough to help a parched winter wheat crop, County Agent John Brazzil indicated this week.

Most parts of Randall County received less than a half-inch of moisture from Saturday evening showers. Official weather observors in Canyon reported the city received .27 from the rain.

Amounts reported were higher in the southern portions of the county with some areas receiving as much as an inch.

"We'd rather have it than not have it," Brazzil said Monday. "But, it really didn't change things one way or the other very much."

He said the light moisture will keep wheat going for only a few days, but will not substantially the poor subsoil moisture reserve to help the wheat through winter.

The rains were not enough, he said, to bring up that wheat which was planted in dry soil. Nor would the amounts be enough to allow for late planting.

"The prospect is less than optimistic," Brazzil said of the possi-

Defendants want Gov. in suit

Defendants in a lawsuit filed by a West Texas State University music professor over the constitutionality of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission want to have the office of Gov. Dolph Briscoe and possibly the federal government included as defendants along with them.

A number of defendants apparently also want to be defended in the court action by the Texas Attorney General.

Randall County commissioners and Canyon city commissioners were officially notified by certified mail of the lawsuit this week.

County Commissioner Jim Fletcher, named along with other county and city commissioners as an individual defendant, told his fellow officials Monday PRPC directors, also defendants, plan to "involve the governor's office and the attorney general's office and ask the court that they be involved in the lawsuit."

He said it is possible the group will also ask that the U.S. government be involved in the suit.

Dr. Donald Todd, who for several years has spoken to various county and city groups throughout the state against regional planning commissions, filed suit along with 15 other Panhandle residents against the PRPC executive director, George Loudder of Canyon, and the elected officials of 15 cities and counties in the Panhandle.

The suit is pending in 47th District Court of Judge Bryan Poff of Canyon.

It asks that the judge enjoin the governmental entities from expending tax money for the support of the PRPC and asks Poff to declare the support unconstitutional.

City Attorney Elton Cox told city commissioners Monday night it may be mandatory that

Lonesome Puppy Fills Void For Blind Clyde McDonald

All summer long, Clyde McDonald, who for years has depended on the keen eyes of dogs to guide him along Canyon streets, had waited for the right dog, the animal which could function as an extension of himself.

Blind, his movement around town severely restricted without a dog to do his seeing for him, McDonald knew the kind of animal he had to have and time and again turned down offers from local folks.

The dog he needed had to be clever, a dog unafraid of work, a dog which could be trained and depended upon to protect the well-being of its master.

As the months passed after the death of Missy, the dog he'd had since 1968, McDonald began to worry that a replacement simply couldn't be found.

But, now, eight months after the McDonalds made the decision that Missy would have to be put to sleep, a victim of fatal arthritis, McDonald has a dog he can trust.

The way the McDonalds obtained Millie, Missy's replacement and the fifth dog McDonald has had to aid him in his jaunts, Mrs. McDonald wouldn't term a miracle. But, she comes close as she describes how she found the animal.

"We had dispaired of getting a dog, because we'd tried too many," she said. "But, I knew Clyde had to have this dog. So I began to pray the Lord would send the right kind of dog.

"I had in my mind I had to have a black, slick German Shepherd."

For days, she said, Mrs. McDonald reiterated her prayer that a dog would be found and one night in a dream she saw a dog in the street and dreamed the dog was perfect for Clyde.

"So I began looking for this dog on the street because I'd dreamed I'd see one on the street and the Lord was going to send one," she said.

It was a pretty day last Aug. 7, when Mrs. McDonald crossed 6th Avenue to speak with two neighbors who were working in their yard.

Tired, she sat on a short tree stump to watch the neighbors and exchange comments.

"I looked up and here came two grown dogs and this little old puppy, just starving to death," she said. "I told my neighbors 'if that's a female, I'm going to get it'."

It was and she did.

The dog was without identification, and had obviously been left to its own devices for survival and Mrs. McDonald gathered it into her arms and headed across the street.

At first, her husband was skeptical.

"I said 'Clyde come here and feel what I have in my arms,' and he put his hand over there and that little old dog licked his hands," Mrs. McDonald said. "And, I said 'we're going to keep it'."

Mrs. McDonald took responsibility for nursing the pup to health and within days McDonald was in the yard playing fetch with the small German Shepherd.

The quickness, the intelligence of the orphaned pup, surprised even the experienced McDonald, who undertook his first formal dog training in 1968 with Missy.

In a little over two months, Millie is now McDonald's companion on trips to town and around his neighborhood.

Tuesday morning, for example, the smallish 10-month-old pup could be seen leading McDonald at a good clip around the downtown square.

"I said 'Drugstore 1' and she went just as straight as you could want to Shell's," he said.

"She is smart," Mrs. McDonald smiles.

Up until 1968, McDonald had been able to obtain already trained seeing-eye dogs, but in that year he was told because of high blood pressure, he couldn't get one.

Never one to back off from adversity, McDonald set about to train Missy, a dog he kept until last March.

And now, he has Millie.

Clyde McDonald and Millie.

Friends Of Library To Tour New Building

A tour of the new city library, election of officers and a review of the classic study of America will highlight today's meeting of the Friends of the Canyon Public Library.

The meeting will begin at 3:45 p.m. in Canyon Community Center with a call to order and business discussion led by Boone McClure, president of the Friends. A treasurer's report will be given by Conway Kuykendall, a secretarial report by Mrs. K.E. Frieze, a report by the program committee to be given by Dr. Pat Sullivan and a report of the projects committee to be presented by Mrs. Joe Findley.

Following a report from the nominations committee to be given by Dr. Mattie Mack, the membership of the Friends will elect new officers for the coming year.

Dr. Duane Guy, chairman of the history department at West Texas State University, will review Alex de Tocqueville's classic work "Democracy in America" during the afternoon introduction by Dr. Pat Sullivan.

The Friends will host a refreshment break following the program and business discussion and will have a table arranged for accepting new members to the Friends.

A tour of the soon-to-be-opened city library facilities in the almost completed Civic Complex will be led by Mrs. Ralph Huntington, city librarian, after the other business is concluded.

All Friends members, as well as high school students and interested citizens, are invited to attend.

PRPC Sets Area Meet

A meeting for all elected officials in this service area will be held by Panhandle Regional Planning Commission officials Nov. 13 at 7 p.m. in the lecture room of the Cornette Library.

The meeting is planned to acquaint officials with the matters to be taken up at the annual PRPC meeting in December. Included will be a presentation of the proposed budget and discussion of the selection of a replacement for Randall County's representative, Commissioner Jim Fletcher, whose term is expiring.

Each of the outgoing planning and service area representatives will host similar meetings that week, however, these meetings will not replace the caucus at the annual meeting, according to PRPC officials.

Youngsters Will Perform For Panhandle Teachers

Choirs from both Gene Howe and Rex Reeves elementary schools will perform Friday for Panhandle music teachers at the district meeting of the Texas State Teachers Association in Amarillo.

Mrs. Donna Wilson's sixth grade choir from Rex Reeves, aided by three members from the sixth grade band, will do a medley of bicentennial songs.

Using the rhythm instruments of xylophone, metallophone, bells, clave and tom-tom, the group will perform a variety of rhythmic chants.

They will sing "200 years Ago," accompanied by Blair Garner on piccolo, Rick Tankersley on snare drum and Julie Harrison on tom-tom. Other selections will include "Fifty Nifty United States" by Ray Charles and "Which Way, America?" by David B. Allen.

Gene Howe sixth graders directed by Mrs. Margie Phillips will perform excerpts from an elaborate choral work, "I Am the Nation America" accompanied by rhythm instruments.

They will also sing "This Land Is Your Land," "Freedom Isn't Free," and "It Takes a Lot of Courage."

Instrumentalists include Randy Steinman, Dean Oswald, Rene Conner, Sharon Mester and Kevin Graham on bells and Melinda Yarborough, April Gibson, Jeanie McDonald, Karl Henry, Jay Tipps, Mark Summers, and Ronnie Gower playing the flutaphone.

Commissioners Hustle Through Agenda

In rapid fashion, the city commissioners hustled through some zoning considerations, approved a partial payment on the civic complex, changed the sewer tap policy and adjourned well in time for TV football Monday night.

The commissioners approved a move to get the city out of the sewer tap business after city manager Glen Metcalf explained that the continued growth of the city was straining existing manpower and that additional personnel would be needed if the city continued to make the sewer taps.

The commissioners voted to retain the $5 inspection fee and a $25 fee for paving repairs and to require the plumbing contractor to make the sewer tap.

Metcalf assured the commissioners that with the inspection the city would retain quality control over taps.

On the advice of the architect, the commissioners withheld part of the payment due on the civic complex until several points in the contract pertaining to warranties are complied with. The commissioners approved a $13,369.50 partial payment and Metcalf told them he expects to recommend the balance of this final payment to be paid at the next meeting. Several minor change orders were also approved.

With no comment for or against the rezoning from those attending the meeting, the commissioners approved two zoning changes at a public hearing and called another public hearing for Dec. 1 to consider two additional changes.

A request by T.J. Harper and James B. Davis was approved to change from single family to multifamily a portion in the western part of the city between 6th and 8th Avenues.

Although they called the request spot zoning, which is generally in disfavor, the commissioners also approved a request by J.D. Ruthart to change the north portion of block 7 in the Heller addition from multi-family to commercial.

Metcalf told the commissioners that commercial storage facility was planned for the property, a use not permitted under the present multi-family zoning.

"This is definately spot zoning, but in this instance I feel it is okay," Mayor Manly Bryan said. The request would link the property to other commercially zoned land, Metcalf said.

The commissioners also called for a public hearing for Dec. 1 on a request by A.H. Lindemann to rezone to commercial an area west of the railroad tracks along 4th Avenue and on an adjoining portion requested by the planning and zoning board.

District Meet Well Attended For TFWC

Canyon federated clubwomen were involved in the Top of Texas District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, fall board meeting and workshops at Perryton last week with a good number attending.

Representing the University Study Club were Mrs. John Childs, president, Mrs. Bob Lindsey, Mrs. Gilbert Irlbeck and Mrs. H. L. Dillehay.

Woman's Book Club representatives included Nora Gillian, Mrs. Lon Fanning, Mrs. Louis Hinders, Sr., Mrs. L. H. Brotherton and Mrs. Crews Henry.

Attending from the Sue Hite Club were Mrs. Larry E. Holman, Mrs. Crews Henry and Mrs. Ishmael Hill.

Mrs. Jerry Becknell, president, represented the Canyon Study Club at the district fall board meetings.

Representing the Heritage Woman's Club were Mrs. Larry Brandon and Mrs. George Loudder.

Variety Ring Has Meeting

Needlework and conversation entertained members of the Variety Ring at a recent meeting hostessed by Mrs. Leonard Winters.

The club members answered roll call with a thought about Halloween and the guessing box went unidentified for the afternoon. Secret pal gifts were exchanged and selected readings were presented by Mae Johnson, Mrs. Leonard Winters and Mrs. Levi Cole.

Refreshments were served to those present including Nancy Boyce, Alice Black, Mrs. Earl Burt, Mrs. Levi Cole, Mrs. E.P. Harding, Mrs. J. P. Hammons, Laura Hartman, Mrs. K.E. Hines, Mae Johnson, Mrs. John Jennings, Lydia Matsler, Mrs. Fred Marshall, Mrs. Ben Priddy, Jeannette Robins and Ann Weaver.

The Variety Ring's next meeting will be Friday, Nov. 7, with Nancy Boyce as hostess for the afternoon.

Bryan On Panel For Small Cities

Canyon joined 136 other Texas cities as members of the fledgling American Association of Small Cities, which was formally chartered at the recent meeting of the Texas Municipal League.

Canyon's mayor, Dr. Manly Bryan, will continue to serve on the steering committee for the organization, which was formed to lobby the federal government for the needs of small cities.

Bryan, who attended an organization meeting held in Houston the day before the TML conference, reported that a nation convention will be called in early 1976. Dr. Roy Duggan, formerly with Texas State Technical Institute, has been hired as executive director.

Eagles' Chance For Title Slim Now

What happened?

"I don't know," says Canyon Eagle Coach Deane Wright in response to a question he's been asked and he's asked himself repeatedly since Friday night. "I just don't know."

Admittedly embarrassed by the play of his Eagles, but nevertheless proud of their efforts, Wright has gone over in his own mind again and again the possible reasons for a resounding defeat of the Eagles by the Perryton Rangers in a rain-drenched game in Perryton.

"I don't think there's a logical answer as to what happened," he said. "Everything that happened was wrong."

The Eagles virtually lost any opportunity for representing District 1-AAA in post-district games with the loss to the Rangers by a 28-0 score.

The rain, an inch of it in one half alone, was undoubtedly a factor for the Eagles, who had gone into the game prepared to fight a touted Ranger aerial offensive effort.

But Wright is hesitant to place much blame for the Eagles' play on the rain.

"If it did affect us it's because we let it affect us," he said.

Nevertheless, Wright can't rid himself of the idea that something happened to the team between a Wednesday practice session, when he says the Eagles looked the best they've looked all year, and the end of the Friday night game.

About all that Wright can figure is that the Eagles were once again beset by the kinds of flukes which plagued them in their first few outings of the season, untimely fumbles, botched plays and costly penalties.

"The kids were really trying," he said. "They did hustle and they tried to play well. I'm embarrassed but I stand in support of the kids because they made every effort."

Readily admitting there are some things in football which simply cannot be explained — like the Canyon tie with 10th ranked Palo Duro several weeks ago — Wright is ready to move his focus of attention away from what happened last weekend and turn instead to the third Eagle district foe.

While severely hampering their chances of grabbing a district championship with the loss to Perryton, the Eagles could still have a portion of the crown if Dumas beats Perryton Friday night.

A Dumas win over Perryton and a Canyon win over Muleshoe this weekend and Levelland the following weekend would find the district in a tie for first place, a tie between Canyon, Perryton and Dumas. A coin flip would break the deadlock.

For that reason, then, the Eagles can't affort to slacken their pace this week going into the outing against the Mules.

Muleshoe is a deceiving team, Wright indicated, a team which has suffered several ignominious defeats, but also racking up impressive offensive yardage.

Perryton, for example, dumped the Mules 56-8 two weeks ago, but in the process of losing the Mules wound up with more than 325 total yards rushing.

Running from the popular Houston veer offense, the Mules can be expected to restrain a passing attack in favor of a consistent ground game led by halfback Tommy St. Clair, a 5-10, 160-pound, runner.

Veteran quarterback Carey Sudduth, a 5-11, 170 pounder, is also an experienced ball handler.

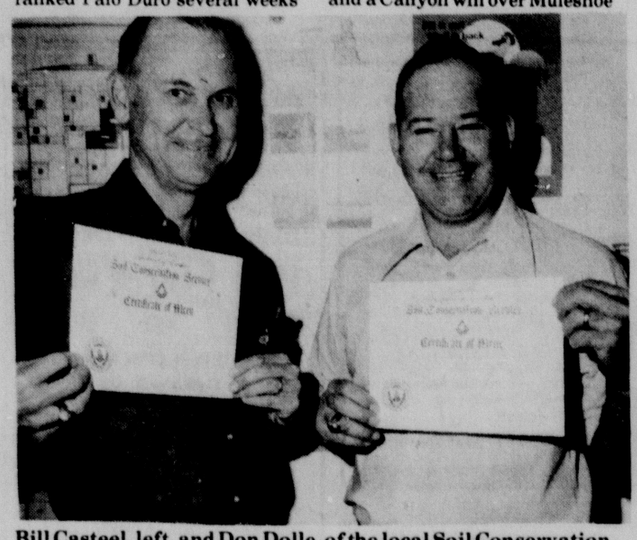

Canyon's coaching staff will have somewhat of an advantage going into the game since Muleshoe utilizes the same offense used by Perryton and many of the same plays are virtually identical.

The Mule defense will be different, however, and the Eagles have spent this week becoming familiar with the defense.

Muleshoe runs more than the average number of players both on offense and defense with St. Clair expected to see action in the backfield on both teams. Other two-way players will be Dean Northcutt, a 5-10, 175-pounder at right end, and halfback Ricky Grogan, a 5-10, 155 pounder at rover, and flanker, Billy Balderas, 6-0, 180 pounds at left guard, Tom Pepper, 5-9, 180 pounds, at right tackle and right guard, and Rene Torres, at left end and right tackle.

The Eagles, under the leadership of Allen Shankles, will continue with the wishbone offense.

Gametime for the Eagle-Muleshoe outing is 7:30 p.m. Friday at Kimbrough Stadium here.

Bill Casteel, left, and Don Dolle, of the local Soil Conservation Service were awarded certificates of merit from their area office last week in Amarillo. Casteel, district conservationist, was cited for his work with West Texas State University in providing an environmental conservation workshop last summer. Dolle was cited for his performance in planning and application of "a quality conservation program materially contributing to the accomplishments of the Canyon field office."

Buffs' Louisiana Smiles Soon Become Frowns

The smiles were out in force Sunday afternoon around West Texas State's football offices, but you could bet that the grimaces would be back in place by Monday morning.

The happy faces were on account of the Buffaloes' easy 45-20 win over Northeast Louisiana in Monroe Saturday night (Nov. 1), and the stern countenances supported the fact that the Buffs face rival New Mexico State in Kimbrough Memorial Stadium Saturday afternoon (Nov. 8).

It's probably fitting that the Aggie-Buff game, the 29th in the series, is here again, because West Texas State exploded for its 1972 WT-NMSU game against the Indians of NLU last weekend. With sophomore Anthony Dogan busting out on offense and senior Mishael Kelson doing the same on defense, the Buffs ran their record to 3-4 with their second straight win.

Despite the big night on the scoreboard, Kelson and his defensive mates may have had the biggest plays. Kelson intercepted the first three passes of his WT career, returning them for 146 yards, a new Missouri Valley Conference record. His returns, plus Mike Lozano's 37-yard interception return and Larry Spears' fumble recovery, set up 31 of the 45 Buffalo points.

When the defense gave the offense the ball, Dogan and mates made the most of the opportunities. "The Sugar Land Express" gained 143 yards on just 12 carries, and scored on runs of three, three and nineteen yards. It was the best individual rushing night for any Buff since that '72 New Mexico State game. In the 63-14 WTSU win that year, Cole Fraley, Rick Schleider and Billy Pritchett all gained over 100 yards rushing.

Ironically, that game was the last time that the Buffs have beaten the Aggies. Two years ago, the Aggies took a 56-14 win, and Coach Jim Bradley's team duplicated it with a 41-0 triumph last year in Kimbrough Stadium.

Last year's game was generally considered to be New Mexico State's best game and West Texas State's poorest effort of the season. The Buffs ended up with a 6-5 record, while New Mexico State lost its last five to end at 5-6.

The Aggies, 5-3 on the season, have switched to the wishbone this year, and their statistics are very similar to the Buffs'. NMSU has gained an average of 249.3 yards per game this year (155.0 rushing, 94.3 passing), while the Buffs are totaling 268.7 yards per game (227.1 rushing, 41.6 passing).

On defense, the Buffs also hold a slight edge, 304.6 yard allowed to 326.3 yards allowed by the Aggies.

New Mexico State's main offensive weapon is wide receiver Duriel Harris. The Port Arthur senior has caught 26 passes for 480 yards and four touchdowns, and has averaged 10.1 yards on seven end-around plays.

With his big night in Louisiana, Dogan has moved into the Buffalo rushing lead. He has gained 353 yards on just 50 carries, an average of 7.1 yards per tote.

Dogan will be joined in the Buff backfield by fullback Bo Robinson (268 yards, 73 carries) and either Robert Mayberry (217 yards, 64 carries) or Richard Riggins (123 yards, 30 carries) at the other halfback.

San Antonio junior Tully Blanchard will handle the option chores at quarterback. Under Blanchard's guidance, the Buffs have averaged over 290 yards rushing in their last four games.

Following Saturday's Buff-Aggie game, West Texas State returns to Louisiana to meet Southland Conference power McNeese State on Nov. 15. The Maroon ends it home season on Nov. 22 by hosting Louisville.

Big 'Copters Landing Here

Two Army helicopters will land in Canyon at 1 p.m. today to pick up approximately 60 Reserve Officers Training Corps cadets at West Texas State University and take them to Ft. Sill, Okla.

The two CH-47 Chinook helicopters will either land on the baseball diamond behind Jarrett Hall or at the Canyon air strip three miles west of town depending on wind conditions and for safety reasons, said Capt. Russell Moore, assistant professor of military science.

Cadets will be taken to Ft. Sill for an orientation visit and will return to WTSU Saturday, Capt. Moore said.

The helicopters will land in Clarendon at 3 p.m. to pick up three Clarendon Junior College cadets.

SPRY Luncheon Planned Here

The SPRY Club will conduct their November meeting as a special Thanksgiving luncheon on Nov. 13.

The luncheon will begin at 12 noon and will include a devotional program by John Childs. The meeting is open to all residents 60 and above and is followed with games and an afternoon of fellowship.

LEGAL NOTICES

STATE OF TEXAS
TO: Terry Elvoy Wilhite, Respondent(s).
GREETINGS:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to appear before the Honorable District Court, 181st Judicial District, Randall County, Texas, at the Courthouse of said county in Canyon, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock a.m. of the Monday next after the expiration of 20 days from the date of service of this citation, then and there to answer the petition of High Plains Children's Home, Petitioner, filed in said Court on the 29th day of October, 1975, against Loretta Norene Wilhite and Terry Elvoy Wilhite, Respondent(s), and said suit being numbered 15,069-B on the docket of said Court, and entitled 'In the Interest of Baby Boy Wilhite, a Child,' the nature of which suit is a request to terminate parent-child relationship and appoint a managing conservator. Said child was born the 10th day of September, 1975, in Amarillo, Potter County, Texas.

The Court has authority in this suit to enter any judgment or decree in the child's interest which will be binding upon you, including the termination of the parent-child relationship, the determination of paternity, and the appointment of a conservator with authority to consent to the child's adoption.

ISSUED AND GIVEN under my hand and seal of said Court at Canyon, Texas, this the 29th day of October, 1975.

McClain Baby Boy Born Here

Mr. and Mrs. Danny McClain of 1925 S. Roosevelt, Amarillo, announce the birth of a son, Brent Michael, on Oct. 29, at Palo Duro Hospital in Canyon.

The baby boy weighed 6 pounds, 1/2 ounce and measured 19 inches at birth. The father is employed with Sav-A-Stop.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W.A. Patton and Mr. and Mrs. Rube McClain, all of Canyon.

chamber recently held their annual meeting, but without banquet. Speaker at Pampa was Paul Harvey, national news commentator.

The theme of the Canyon banquet will be "Americanism" in honor of the American bicentenial celebration.

Even if Reagan cannot make the Canyon engagement, directors indicated Monday they have virtually junked an idea they discussed in early October for a banquet held informally and featuring beans and cornbread.

Mrs. Rice said members of the women's division of the chamber rejected the proposal because the annual banquet is "the only dress-up time Canyon has."

Carroll Wilson, editor of The Canyon News, warned the directors that if Reagan announces his intentions to run for the Presidency, the chamber might be accused of partisan politics if he is featured speaker at the banquet.

He said the appearance of Reagan might be construed as an endorsement.

"He's been speaking for years and years," Chamber Manager Roland Black said.

"If you want him, then vote on it and let's do it and don't worry about what people think," County Judge Woody Pond, a director, said.

In other business, Trice announced that James Hanson, director of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum; John Childs, assistant vice president of First National Bank; Kenneth Thompson, owner of Carriage House Shoes; and Bill Hunter, manager of Schooler-Gordon Funeral Home; have been elected new directors to serve after Jan. 1.

Outgoing directors are Cordell Huddleston, Jerry Williams, Gene Glazener and Woody Pond.

New officers of the chamber for the coming year will be elected at a Dec. 6 meeting of the board.

persons, according to Mrs. Holladay, who is secondary curriculum coordinator for the school district.

Committee members last Thursday voted to take action to mail out brochures and to set up town hall meetings to explain to taxpayers and voters the issues involved in the bond election.

The brochure is to be mailed to all taxpayers during Thanksgiving week and town hall meetings are tentatively set for the first week in December.

Committee members also agreed to seek information on costs for purchase of outdoor sign space promoting the bond election and its passage.

Mrs. McGregor was assigned the task of raising funds for purchase of a full-page advertisement in support of the bond issue.

School board members decided Tuesday night to ask voters to approve a bond issue of $6 million for construction of a new elementary school and a new high school in the district.

The bond issue election will be Dec. 9.

Junior Volunteers For LaCasa Home

A junior volunteer organization to benefit the residents of LaCasa Canyon Nursing Home is being considered with a special meeting set Monday evening, Nov. 10, at 7 p.m. at the nursing home.

Stelcie Williams, recreation director for the home, noted that junior volunteers from junior high and high school levels would be able to visit with the patients, write letters for individual residents, read to the patients, play games such as checkers, wahoo, and other table games with the patients and benefit the patients in many ways.

"We would like to invite all high school and junior high boys and girls who would like to volunteer a few hours for this type service to meet with us at the home Monday evening for a discussion," stated Mrs. Williams.

the state attorney general defend the defendants when a constitutional question is raised.

Loudder, contacted Tuesday, had no comment on the strategy the defense is developing.

He said the defendants have 20 days to file an answer to the suit and the PRPC attorney will coordinate the answer for filing.

He said he does not anticipate separate answers will be filed by each defendant.

Loudder said a similar suit has been filed and partially litigated in the Austin area recently.

That suit was apparently filed in federal district court in the capital city, but the federal judge refused to hear the case claiming the suit presented no controversy and the plaintiffs did not have standing to sue.

The suit, he said, is now pending with the federal circuit court in New Orleans, the appeal being made on the grounds that the district judge denied a hearing on the issue.

bility for a good wheat crop this year.

Already, it has become apparent to most dryland farmers that grazing cattle on the wheat will be out of the question.

"On dryland, the bulk is still in variable condition," Brazzil said. "Most is planted, some is up and some is too dry to come up. We have poor subsoil moisture going into the dry part of the winter."

At least an inch of rain will be needed, Brazzil said, to get the wheat crop in shape for the winter. Even so, that amount would not add significantly to the subsoil reserve.

He said most farmers must hope to receive enough moisture to give the wheat a good start before winter hits and then hope for snows or other moisture during the winter to keep the wheat going.

Amarillo Ambulance Firm Submits Local Proposal

Metropolitan Ambulance Service of Amarillo offered Randall County commissioners a $3665 per month package for ambulance service in Canyon Monday and the proposal is to be discussed with two other local governments.

Commissioner Paul Lindsey reluctantly agreed to meet with representatives of the South Randall County Hospital District and the City of Canyon to discuss the proposal, which would cost the three governments about $200 per month more than the current Canyon Ambulance Service.

A spokesman for the Amarillo ambulance service said the $3665 figure would be the lowest possible subsidy to provide the service.

Currently, Canyon Ambulance Service is receiving a $1000 per month subsidy from the City of Canyon and $800 per month subsidies from Randall County commissioners and the South Randall County Hospital District.

County commissioners have delayed taking action on a request by Richard Bertrand of the Canyon service to hike the monthly subsidy to $1000. Hospital board members have followed suit and indicated at their last meeting they will not take action on the subsidy until county commissioners do so.

The Metropolitan spokesman said the $3665 per month would provide one ambulance in Canyon operated by two shifts.

Commissioner John Fulgenzi initially suggested after hearing Metropolitan's offer that the firm try to buy out Canyon Ambulance Service, but he backed off on his proposal when Commissioner Jim Fletcher said the County had no business trying to put Bertrand out of business.

In other business Monday, commissioners discussed the need for discussions with county farmers whose irrigation tailwater stands for long periods of time on county roads.

Road Supt. Joe West said he has problems with very few farmers who allow their tailwater to stand in the roads or run onto the roads rendering them hazardous.

He submitted an overtime list to commissioners for payment for men called to a flooded road over the weekend. Lindsey indicated the overtime for the period amounted to about $200.

Commissioner Dee Griffin suggested the county might bill those farmers who allow their tailwater to flood county roads for the cost of removing the water or making the road safe for travel.

But, his suggestion was not acted on.

Highway Patrolmen Larry McLendon and James Haley asked commissioners to purchase two new radar units for vehicles in the county.

Cost for the two units would be about $4000, according to Dick Ott of Decatur Electronics Co., who also appeared before commissioners.

No action was taken on the request.

The annual report from Mrs. Audrey Bruse, Tax Collector, was approved by commissioners.

They also discussed briefly passage of a resolution calling on Randall County voters to vote their consciences in the Tuesday constitutional amendment election.

County Judge Woody Pond reiterated his stand against the amendments, and Commissioner Fletcher added his objection to that of Pond.

But, Griffin, Fulgenzi and Lindsey held off on formal passage of the resolution.

Funeral Set Friday For Inez Shipman

Funeral services for Inez Shipman, 61, of Happy will be conducted Friday, Nov. 7, at 2 p.m. in the First Baptist Church at Happy.

Mrs. Shipman died early Wednesday at the Lubbock Osteopathic Hospital. She was born June 30, 1914 in the Fairview Community of Randall County and had lived in the Happy area all of her life.

She was retired from the restaurant business, and had owned Cafe 87 in Happy for many years. She was married to H.H. Shipman at Plainview on Oct. 14, 1935.

Funeral arrangements are being handled locally by the Schooler-Gordon Funeral Chapel of Canyon and burial will be conducted at the Wayside Cemetery. The family has requested that memorials go to Girlstown USA.

Survivors include her husband, H.H. Shipman of 205 S. Buntin, Happy; two sons, Jerry Shipman of Hereford and Gene Shipman of Happy; one daughter, Mrs. Nan Earlye Geauthreaux of Altus, Okla.; her mother, Mrs. Lizzie Wesley of Happy; and five grandchildren.

Games With CBs Draw Ire Of Police Chief

Citizen band radio operators who use their CBs to play games have drawn complaints from Canyon residents recently, Police Chief Al Stewart said this week.

He appealed to CB operators to use the radios within the rules set out by the FCC.

One of the games that has raise the ire of both residents and police is called "rabbit hunt," Stewart said.

"They go up and down alleys, sort of like hiding seek," Stewart said.

The chief said his department has received a number of complaints in the last few weeks of drivers hot-rodding on residential streets and through alleys late at night.

Sounding a positive note, Stewart said he wanted to ask operators to use the radios properly.

"I've found it is always better to ask someone to do something rather than tell them not to do it," he said.

And he emphasized that only a few CBers misused the radios.

"Every group has a few who misuse things. And these few are giving a bad name to those many who use the radios legitimately," Stewart said.

However, Stewart said, if the misuse continues, federal agents will be called in to monitor the operators. Citizens band licenses are granted by the FCC and operators who violate FCC regulations are subject to fines and loss of license.

The chief praised most CB operators.

"CBs can be, and have been, of tremendous value to us as a police department," he said. "People with CBs can see things we don't. They report this to us and we appreciate it. CBers can increase the effectiveness of the police department."

Pedestrian Seriously Hurt

A West Texas State University student was seriously injured Tuesday night when he was struck by a tractor-trailer on the Canyon Expressway about four miles north of Canyon.

Lynn M. Clay, 20, a sophomore from Nara Visa, N.M., was taken to Northwest Texas Hospital about 11:50 p.m. Tuesday where he was listed in serious condition late Wednesday morning.

Clay was reported by the ambulance attendant who transported him to have suffered a broken leg, and extensive head and body injuries.

The student was apparently walking along the expressway or attempting to cross, according to reports.

The accident was investigated by State Trooper James Haley, who did not have information available Wednesday on the collision.

During the 10-minute period when Mrs. Madewell read to board members the various page numbers of violators of the hair code, board members talked, moved around and giggled.

At one point, Board President Tom Keeling tried to interrupt Mrs. Madewell, but she continued.

At another point, Board Member Roscoe Richardson asked: "Do we have to sit here and listen to this?"

"We could adjourn," Keeling said as Mrs. Madewell talked.

"Is there any law that says we have to do this?" Richardson asked, but there was no response.

Mrs. Madewell and her husband had appeared before the board last spring after their son's picture was deleted from the annual and from a large board featuring senior pictures allegedly because of the length of his hair.

The board took no action on the dispute at that time.

They adjourned after hearing Mrs. Madewell and had no comment on her presentation.

Hayenga, Project Leader in Farm Management and Economist-Management of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at a Financial Management Seminar for Agribusiness firms that was recently held at Texas A&M University. The seminar was attended by agribusiness representatives from three states who discussed accounting rules and practices, financial and investment analysis, and business organization. The seminar was put on by the Extension Service in service with the support of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the G.R. White Charitable Trust.

Signatures Gathered On Street

About a quarter of the property owners on Lamount Street have agreed to pay for street improvements along the primary thoroughfare to Gene Howe School, a committee of area parents reported Wednesday.

Dr. Nolan Clark, chairman of the committee organized through the Gene Howe PTA, said follow-up efforts will now begin in an attempt to gain the additional signatures needed.

Teams of parents have in the last few weeks contacted the approximately 38 property owners along Lamount Street from Hollywood to Ardens and have circulated petitions to have the street widened with curbs, gutters and sidewalks installed. They are seeking agreement from at least 50 per cent of the owners.

Efforts to improve the street began earlier this year after a third grader was struck by a car and seriously injured as he walked home along Lamount Street. The narrow rural road is used by some 130 school children who walk north, as well as by most of the auto and bus traffic to the school.

The follow-up will be completed by Nov. 15, Dr. Clark said, and then the committee will go to the Amarillo city commission, with or without the needed signatures.

"We can, even with the signatures we have now, take it to the city commission, and we plan to do this, to present the street as a safety hazard," Dr. Clark said. "We have told all the property owners that we do plan to pursue this as far as we can within our legal procedures."

Dr. Clark said the committee was optimistic about acquiring enough signatures to have the street improved without having to convince city officials that the road constitutes a hazard.

"Hopefully, at the end of the follow-up, we'll report enough signatures," he said. "Everyone has been very cooperative."

Dr. Clark said a number of the property owners who have not signed the petition asked for more time to consider.

Rites Set Friday For Tidwell, 81

Funeral services for James M. Tidwell, 81, will be conducted Friday, Nov. 7, at 2 p.m. in the Baptist Church at Quail, Texas.

Mr. Tidwell died early Wednesday morning at LaCasa Canyon Nursing Home in Canyon. He was born December 10, 1893 at Marion County, Alabama and formerly resided at Rt. 1, Hedley. He was a member of the Ring Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Teddie of LaCasa Canyon Nursing Home in Canyon; three daughters, Mrs. Ronald Boehning of Canyon, Mrs. Nowland Satterwhite of Longview and Mrs. Hester Adams of Perryton; 12 grandchildren, 13 great grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Local arrangements were handled by Schooler-Gordon Funeral Home in Canyon with Spicer Funeral Home to handle the memorial services. Rev. Elvis Pitts of Wellington will officiate at the funeral Friday afternoon.

UIL To Meet At University

West Texas State University will host the University Interscholastic League (UIL) workshops Nov. 8 in the WTSU Activities Center (AC) and the Fine Arts Building. Co-sponsoring the event with WTSU and UIL is the Region XVI PESO Education Service Center.

Schools from the 26 county Texas Panhandle will participate in the seven morning events.

Dr. Lloyd Watkins, president of West Texas State University, will open the sessions with a welcome scheduled for 8:45 a.m. The students will then go to one of the seven workshops available.

Gene Howe News

Reporter Braves Rodents

By KAROLYN FARMER

I DON'T KNOW how I'm going to settle down enough to write this column — my nerves are shot! The fearless head of our family, otherwise known as "Krafty Kyle", is attending a three-day engineering school in Denver — and I miss him terribly.

Oh, it's not that we're an inseparable couple. It's the fact that some sneaky field mouse found out Kyle was gone, and is spreading the news for miles around.

Well, actually we only saw one of the little grey creatures last night, but I'm expecting a full scale invasion anytime.

Remember the movie "Heaven Knows Mr. Allison" where the rat crawled all over Robert Mitchum? That scene instilled in me a lifelong fear of rodents — all of them!

If you can conjure up a mental picture of a crazy woman standing on top of her typewriter with a broom in her hand, then you'll be able to imagine what's going to happen if "they" start invading before I'm finished writing.

SPOOKS AND GOBLINS were out in full force last Friday. And at Gene Howe several "real, live witches" stalked the halls, casting spells (and also candy) on their young victims.

Christy Horton, Pat Meier and Troyce Mulherin, all cleverly disguised as evil, ugly hags, were responsible for the screams of "fright" heard throughout the school during the day.

The children in Grades K through 3 were treated to Halloween parties, while the older children enjoyed the candy provided by the witches.

Anita Harp's kindergarten class feasted on jack-o-lantern cookies and "witch's brew" from a smoke-filled caldron. On the bulletin board in Mrs. Harp's room were the "real" ingredients for a "Witch's Brew" — including lizard tails, princess hair and bat wings.

Pam Layman's class decorated their room with lots of orange and black streamers hung from the ceiling. During their party the children enjoyed tossing bean bags through the face of a giant jack-o-lantern.

Alicia Niemeier's first grade room was decorated for the occasion with lots of black cats, spooks and paper plate pumpkins.

The door to Jimmie Little's speech classroom was surrounded by a huge, bright orange paper pumpkin, with the jack-o-lantern face placed on the door.

The children in Portia Tillinghast's first grade room received "ghost" handpuppets adorned with tiny black "spiders". Johnnie McLean was the winner in the jack-o-lantern game played by the children.

Nancy Roth's second graders were treated to orange juice "brew" and cupcakes. The children in Elaine Trew's class enjoyed popcorn balls and "ghost" lollipops.

Everyone in Gerry Woodward's room was wearing his or her party favor — wax mouths and noses. Pat Stevens' second graders received black cat baskets filled with candy.

A multitude of jack-o-lanterns hung from the ceiling of Johnnie Gordon's room, where the children enjoyed eating candy from black cat candy sticks.

Jerrie Langen's third graders partied in their darkened room, with their only light coming from a big jack-o-lantern in the center of the room.

The first grade children in Sheila Davis' room received favors of candy wrapped in black crepe paper packages decorated with orange ribbon.

The fifth graders in Margie Phillips' music class were singing a rousing rendition of "The 12 Days of Halloween" when "Witch Hazel Mulherin" entered the room. Even though the witch insisted on a kiss from the boys, they all bravely resisted her evil charms.

All of the parties were really great and, of course, many thanks go to the mothers who provided the treats and entertainment. Marion Marrs and Georgia Sorrells, room representative chairmen, are also due a lot of credit for the day's success.

TIM AND STEVE Stokes held a Halloween party for many of their friends on Friday evening. After filling up on "sloppy joes" and punch, the boys participated in the judging for the best costume.

The "Best Ghoul" award was presented to Kelly Mayfield, who came as Kelly "Ann" Mayfield. Helpful neighbors, Suzanne Davis and Mary Davee, were judges for the event.

The boys also attempted to draw a picture of a pumpkin with a paper sack over their heads. Jerrell Tyler received the "Pumpkin Head" award for his artistic abilities.

Bettye Stokes was the official hostess for the party. Invited guests (not counting a few gate crashing "trick or treaters") were: Charlie Cox, Lynn Gregory, Kent and Jeff Newcomb, Carl Henry, Jeff Knight, Jay Tipps, Shannon Edwards, Kelly Mayfield, Jerrell and Ray Tyler.

JANA TIPPS' HOME was the scene of a "no"-slumber party on Halloween evening. The girls first went out to eat pizza and then enjoyed several hours of "trick or treating."

The rest of the time was spent playing ping pong, eating some more and just "goofing around."

Jana's guests were: Abbe Jane White, Carla Schmidt, Deborah Drost, Gina Moore, Debra Cline, Donna Davis, Gaylene Byrom, Stormie Moreland, Amy Boston and Shelley Shenk.

CANYON BOOSTER CLUB is sponsoring a bus to Levelland on Nov. 14 for the CHS Eagles' game.

The cost will be $6 and reservations must be made immediately by calling Melvin Edes (after 5:00) at 622-0221.

The bus will leave the high school at 4:30 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 14.

THE BOOSTER CLUB is also sponsoring a social after the CHS game this Friday night against Muleshoe.

The CHS Football Queen will be crowned in pre-game activities. Friday night will also be Father's Night, with the fathers of the players being presented during the halftime activities.

EVEN THOUGH THE Eagles lost to Perryton last Friday night, the weather was much worse than the score. Just as the referee blew his whistle to begin the game, the wind and the rain began.

It was definitely one of those "Panhandle Northers"! Besides the Farmers, some of the other Gene Howe folks sitting around us who got soaked were Peggy and Lowell Cranfill, Jessie and Dave Coronado, Mary Jo and Bobby Hulsey and Lawanna and Harley Sallee.

SYMPATHIES ARE EXTENDED to Mrs. Lee (Georgia) Sorrells, whose aunt and uncle were killed in a car-truck accident this past week near Tulia.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Suter were residents of Grinell, Kan. and Mrs. Suter was the sister of Georgia's mother.

Georgia, Lee Ann and Kevin Sorrells went to Kansas on Monday to attend the funeral services.

PAMELA D'ANN PHILLIPS is the newest grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Boren. Linda Boren, who is in Mrs. Taylor's fifth grade class, is Pamela's aunt.

Pamela was born on Oct. 2 at High Plains Baptist Hospital and weighed 6 pounds, 9 ounces. Her proud parents are Margaret and Danny Phillips of Amarillo.

TERRY AND JOLENE Williams, Chris and Daryl have recently moved to the Gene Howe area. The Williams' former home was in Amarillo and the boys attended South Georgia School last year. They now live on Western just north of McCormick.

Chris, who is 6, is in Mrs. Niemeier's first grade class. Daryl is 8-years-old and is in Mrs. Gordon's third grade class.

Both Terry and Jolene Williams grew up in the Adrian, TX area. Terry is employed as a computer operator for Bell Helicopter. Jolene is employed at Farmland Industries.

The favorite leisure-type activities of the Williams family are camping and bowling.

THE DISCOVERY CENTER in Amarillo was the place for the PTA Area Council meeting on Monday, Nov. 3. Representing Gene Howe at the meeting were Sherrie Cates, Sarah Edwards, Sandra Wait and myself. Sandy Morgan and Joanna MacDonald attended as representatives of Rex Reeves.

The Discovery Center is really fantastic and is going to be a great thing for everyone in this area. We all enjoyed a preview of the shows that will be presented when the Center is officially opened and we also enjoyed a guided tour of the exhibits in the building.

KEN CATES, CRAIG Lawless and Brent Sherwood went to Waco last weekend to enjoy the Baylor University Homecoming activities.

Ken stayed with his brother Ronnie, who is a junior at Baylor. Thursday night Ken and Ronnie and the rest of the Tri C's (Ronnie's fraternity) worked on the fraternity's float for the Homecoming Parade.

On Friday Ken went with Ronnie to some of his classes and that evening enjoyed watching Ronnie and the other Tri C's participate in the "Pigskin Review."

The Homecoming Parade was held on Saturday morning — and the Tri C's won first prize for their float.

Before the beginning of the football game on Saturday afternoon, Ronnie and Ken enjoyed playing their own private "game" on the astroturf at Baylor Stadium.

Of course, the fact that Baylor whipped TCU by a score of 24 to 6 that afternoon helped make the weekend even better.

Craig and Brent spent the weekend with Mark Lawless, who is also a student (and big track star) at Baylor.

THE 4TH GRADE Football Team played an invitational game against a team from Borger last Thursday night. Coach Ray Myers said his boys really played a great game and just barely lost by a score of 20 to 14.

Coach Myers presented the team members with certificates of appreciation for their great season. The boys gave their coach a gift of stadium seats.

THE 1ST AND 2nd grade soccer team held an end-of-the-season swimming party at the Estacado Estates pool. Each of the boys received a trophy and the team also presented trophies to their coaches, J.T. Jolley and T.C. Newkirk.

The team enjoyed a good season, but lost their final tournament game against Coronado School by a score of 3 to 0.

AMY KATHLEEN BOWEN is the newest addition to the family of Thomas and Julie Bowen. Amy was born on Oct. 22 at Northwest Texas Hospital and weighed 6 pounds, 2 ounces at birth.

Welcoming Amy home were her sisters, Kris and Jenny.

The Bowens are fairly new residents of the Gene Howe area, having moved here eight months ago from Iowa. Thomas Bowen is employed at Iowa Beef Packers.

MEMBERS OF PACK 130 and their families held a picnic and workday last Saturday with 75 people in attendance.

As part of their work on their Bicentennial patch, Heritage '75-'76, the boys are required to take part in a community service and learn more about an historical event.

For their community service, the Scouts picked up litter and trash at Palo Duro Canyon — and filled the back of Johnny Hicks' pickup with stuff.

They all then went to the site of Colonel Goodnight's "dug-out" or line camp for their study of part of our area's history.

Everyone also took part in and enjoyed the picnic at Cottonwood Grove.

DON'T FORGET TO make plans to attend the Arts Americana Festival being sponsored by the Heritage Woman's Club of Canyon.

It's being held at the Canyon Community Center on Nov. 14, from 3:00 to 6:00, and Nov. 15 from 9:00 to 6:00.

All kinds of beautiful items will be on sale, including plants, pottery, purses, fancy soaps, macrame and lots of Christmas "goodies."

There are still a few booths available for rent, so if you have something you would like to sell at the festival, please call Darlene Hollabaugh at 655-4020.

Irene Beard and Viola Gum, right, of the Canyon City chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star inspect the final stitches of a sequined Christmas bell tablecloth which will be awarded in a drawing giveaway at 4 p.m. on Nov. 15 at the "Arts Americana" bazaar.

Rex Reeves PTA Serves Spaghetti Tonite

Spaghetti, salad, hot breads, dessert, and coffee or tea will be the featured menu items as the Rex Reeves Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association sponsors a community-wide feast tonight, Nov. 6.

The supper will be served from 5-8 p.m. and tickets are selling at $1.75 for adults and students, or $1 for pre-school children.

Tickets will be available at the door during the evening and during the evening a bevy of door prizes will be drawn for at the event. Ticket stubs will be drawn at 8 p.m. with the winners not required to be present to receive merchant donated items such as a transistor radio, an 8 mm movie camera, men's jewel box, oil paintings, pottery, potted plant arrangements, boxed stationery, wooden cup racks, caricatures in oil and other gift items.

A highlight of the evening's entertainment for the youngsters will be provided in the all-purpose room at the school where a "cartoon theater" is set up for the event. Tickets to the theater will be 10 cents per child.

Proceeds from the project will go to the continued beautification of Rex Reeves Elementary School through the playground and cafeteria projects being sponsored by the PTA.

Museum Fashions Review Covers 80 Year Segment

The culmination of "Museum Week" was climaxed with a well-received review of some 40 fashion garments from the collection of the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum.

About 125 Canyon and Amarillo residents viewed "fashions from the past" Saturday afternoon in gallery showings at the museum. Fashions ranging from 1860-1940 were presented with commentary by Mrs. Leonard (Jackie) Wilson in one gallery and additional commentary by Avalon Harvey in a second other gallery.

Background selections for the review were presented by Mrs. Meade (Fanita) Humphries and by Mrs. Hugh (Rinkie) Sanders.

Modelling for the review were Liz Wheeler, Julie Mantooth, Carol Cline, Jane Wheeler, Lee Tenorio, Brenda Wilson, Kathy Smallwood, Stephanie Mehas and Barbara Brown.

After the review the fashion models remained dressed in their final presentation outfit and mingled with the guests at the antique refreshment tables where hot spiced tea and coffee were served. Antique tea and coffee services from the museum collection were used for the event along with antique tablecloths.

The Panhandle Plains Historical Museum Auxiliary coordinated the refreshment and hostess duties for the afternoon with Mrs. Gene Morrison as coordinator. Serving at the refreshment tables were Mrs. Lois Hull and Mrs. James Murphy White.

Sunday Is "Big" Day

By REBA RAEF

NEXT SUNDAY IS our big day in Umbarger.

Today, we will make sausage and on Saturday, we will peel potatoes and make final preparations for the Festival.

So, we'll be looking for you out Sunday. Do come and enjoy the day with us.

THE UMBARGER VOLUNTEER Fire Department has just received two new Scott air packs, valued at $900. These new air packs contain 30 minutes of air time. The fire department already had two small air packs with 15 minutes of air, so the department will be better able to handle fires in the future.

During the month of October, our firemen put out 3 fires in Randall county, two on the right of way and one in "downtown" Umbarger. The firemen meet on the second Monday of each month.

HALLOWEEN WAS FAIRLY quiet in Umbarger this year. We had about 45 trick or treaters.

The Bernard Hartman's hosted a family Hallowe'en party in their home. They played games such as "two deep, freeze tag, they dunked for apples and told ghost stories.

Everyone who came without a costume was hastily attired in whatever was available and there were some comical costumes.

Refreshments of brownies, caramel apples, pop corn balls, cookies, coffee and punch were served to Richard and Mary Theresa Friemel and Jimmy, Steve, Monica, Denise, Freddie, Stanley and Gracie; Marion and Suzy Hicks and Doug, Danny, Jason and Matthew; Ed and Armella Wieck and Marianne, Bernie and Debbie; Leonard and Helen Batenhorst and Brenda; Jim and Shirley Skarke and Jackie, Chris, Roxanne, Shane, Troy and Nicole; Jay and Brian Friemel; Donna Wieck; Duane, Floyd and Galen Hartman; Danny, Janet and Wade Wilhelm and Trina Hunter, and a good time was had by all.

THE THIRD AND fourth grade C.C.D. class presented the liturgy at the 10 a.m. Mass on Saturday, Nov. 1st, All Saints Day. Each child chose a Saint and made a banner with his story of that Saint's life depicted on the banner.

The children also presented the Offertory gifts and each child offered his own prayer at the Prayer of the Faithful. It was a very impressive ceremony.

St. Mary's Junior Choir and orchestra, under the direction of Rose Mary Ramaekers, sang and played the hymns for the Mass.

BEN BUECKER IS a patient at High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo. Our son, Lewie, Jr., is a patient in Highland General Hospital in Pampa and to both, we wish a speedy recovery.

MARION AND SUZY Hicks hosted a birthday dinner for Lewie at their home last Sunday.

Attending were Lewie, Jr., from Pampa, Tom from Clovis, Barbara and Bernard Hartman and children and Andy and Edith Raef and girls from Umbarger; Mike and Margaret Browder and Joe, and Mary Goodin and Brad, Don and Gracie Raef and children, and Kevin from Amarillo; Christie, Quinton and Stacie Artho from Hereford and Donna Hartman from Canyon and Billy Earl from Tulia, the honoree; myself and the host couple and their children. Belated Happy Birthday, Lewie.

WE ARE REALLY enjoying having Andy and Edith and their two little girls here for a visit. We have done a lot of visiting and have a lot more to do. They will leave on Nov. 11th for Germany.

We're going to miss them, but hope to pay them a visit in Germany before their three years are up.

* * *

WE WOULD LIKE to say Happy Birthday to Lucille Hicks, whose birthday is tomorrow and to our Andy, whose birthday is Nov. 11th.

THE MASSES FOR next Sunday will be changed for that Sunday, only. The first Mass will be at 8:00 p.m. on Saturday, which will satisfy the Sunday obligation and the second Mass will be at 9:00 a.m. on Sunday, because of the Festival. We are hoping for a nice day and hope to see you here for dinner.

Helen Koch was testing the sauerkraut's readiness this week in preparation for Sunday's annual Umbarger Community German Sausage Festival. Mrs. Koch and husband, Ben, are the co-chairmen for the sauerkraut preparations.

Kraut Ready For Festival

After eight weeks of fermentation it came time to test the 370 gallons of sauerkraut this week previous to the 23rd annual Umbarger Community German Sausage Festival on Sunday.

The traditional feast of sauerkraut and sausage from special German recipes will be held Sunday, Nov. 9, at the Umbarger Parish Hall with the public invited to join the community for the annual celebration.

Homemade breads, green beans, applesauce, tea, coffee, milk, chocolate milk and brownies will complement the sauerkraut and sausage. Tickets for the feast will be $3 for adults, $1.50 for children under 12 and pre-schoolers will be fed at no charge.

Tickets will be available at the door as serving lines open at 11 a.m. The dinner lines will remain open until 4 p.m. according to festival chairmen, James Skarke and Joe Grotegut.

The sauerkraut was set aside in crocks for fermentation under the guidance of Ben Koch, chairman, and sausage chairman, Johnnie Wieck, will direct his committee in the stuffing of the sausage casings today, Nov. 6, in a daylong community effort.

Several months of work have also gone into the preparation of gift items which will be sold Sunday afternoon through the Bazaar according to Mrs. Joe Wieck, chairman.

Other festival activities will include the giveaway project to be handled by John Beckman; a fishing pond for the youngsters to be set up under the direction of Elroy Artho; and the County Store, where Mrs. Max Hoffman is chairman.

Along with homebaked breads and desserts, the Country Store will be offering German sausage and sauerkraut in take-home quantities for festival patrons. The kraut will be selling at $1.25 for a 52 oz. tub (almost ½ gallon) and sausage will be $2.50 per pound at the booth.

The festival, which began in 1952 as a project for St. Mary's Catholic Church to raise parish improvement funds, has developed into a communitywide effort through the years. Last year's festival had 3,800 dinner tickets being sold to adults and children besides the large number of pre-schoolers who went uncounted due to being served a free meal.

After the dinner tables are cleared away Sunday afternoon, the day's activities will be wound up with a dance featuring music of the Young Country Sounds. The dance kicks off at 8:30 p.m. and tickets will be available at the door. Sandwiches will be available during the evening.

Spooky Thrills By Jaycee Group

By MARY NEAL HENRY

YOUNG PEOPLE THESE days seek thrills and excitement. And last Thursday and Friday nights, Happy Jaycees furnished just that — free of charge.

The Happy Jaycees Haunted House, chairmanned by Andy Hand, took place in the very old building just south of the Post Office building. It was formerly an elevator office and then a feed store. Light, sound, costume and setting measured out in the right proportions and mixed in exactly the right times provided the Halloween entertainment.

These Jaycees even went above and beyond the "call of duty." They met the band buses when they returned from the football game and thrilled each band member. One twirler peered cautiously around the bus before crossing the street to leave. (I laughed until I cried).

Over 60 visited the Haunted House on Thursday. A steady line waited to go through from 8 to 10 on Friday night and again from 11 to 1. Hope that you, too, had a nice treat for Halloween.

HAPPY JAYCEE-ETTES AND Jaycees held their annual Halloween party on Saturday evening in the Happy Jaycee Hall. Games were played by the youngsters and contests judged.

Betty Donnell and Gay and Jim Fellers served as judges this year. Cutest prize was a tie between Janell Stockett and Laura Ann Tirey. Scott Tate, a pirate, was the scariest. Mandi Shipman as Carol Burnett won most original.

Neil McCarley and Vincent Venhaus won the traditional pumpkin carving (Jack-o-Lantern making) contest. Second places went to George Tirey and Ronnie Johnson.

Cookies, punch, carmel corn and bags of treats were served to the Ronnie Johnson family, Lloyd Rahlfs family, George Tirey family, Norman Freeman family, Vincent Venhaus family, Neil McCarley family, James Stockett family, Charles Tate family, Tom and Angelique Henry, Mandi and Raphe Shipman.

WANDA AND ADRIAN Bates were honored on their 25th wedding anniversary Sunday afternoon with a reception in the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Kathy and David Leavitt. Their other daughter, and son-in-law, Peggy and Tom Johnson also helped to host the reception.

About 65 people called during the afternoon. Several nice gifts were received by Wanda and Adrian.

Guests were registered by Peggy Johnson from a table covered in white and decorated with the honorees' wedding pictures and current picture. A silver rose in a silver vase, a gift from the children decorated the table.

Kathy served guests punch, coffee and donut centers. A floral arrangement of yellow and white daisies and peach colored carnations decorated the serving area.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Norman Finck and Dale of Tulia (Adrian's sister); Mr. and Mrs. Ron Taylor and Jill, also of Tulia, and Jim Finck of Dallas (Adrian's niece and nephew); Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bates, Mr. and Mrs. James Standridge, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Lea, Myrtle Leavitt, Ben and Winona Bates, Hardy and Jerry Burrow, all of Tulia; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil White and Todd, Shorty and Mary Johnson, both of Amarillo; and Dr. and Mrs. Emmitt Smith of Canyon and Florence and Red Wauford of Amarillo (Wanda's sister).

'The Tempest' At WT Sunday

Currently in its 13th season of touring, the National Shakespeare Company of New York City will present "The Tempest" at 8 p.m. Sunday in the West Texas State University field house.

The professional troupe will be jointly sponsored by the WTSU Special Programs Committee and Student Activities Council.

Tickets will be $2 for the general public, $1 for WTSU faculty, staff and public school students and WTSU students will be admitted free with identification card.

Set on a mythical, magical island somewhere between Africa and the Americas, "The Tempest" tells the tale of an exiled wizard, Prospero, and his wonderful plan to regain his rightful dukedom.

Many scholars have seriously contended that Shakespeare wrote the play after a visit to America with John Smith and Sir Walter Raleigh.

"The Tempest" is Shakespeare's last poetic comedy.

Mario Siletti, who directed NSC's production of "The Two Gentlemen of Verona" last season, will direct the production with feature sets by Jane Thurn and costumes by Sharon Hollinger.

The company, a non-profit organization, has performed for audiences of 250,000 each season in colleges, universities and occasional high schools across the nation.

Productions performed by the company include Shakespeare's "Macbeth," "Romeo and Juliet," "Hamlet," "Twelfth Night," "Much Ado About Nothing," "Othello," "Taming of the Shrew," "As You Like It," "Julius Caesar," "King Lear," and "Midsummer Night's Dream." Others are T.S. Eliot's "Murder in the Cathedral;" Sophocles' "Oedipus Rex," in the Yeats translation; Ben Johnson's "Volpone;" Moliere's "School for Wives;" and Shaw's "St. Joan."

Each season's nine-month trek takes the company from Florida to the Maritimes, from New York to California, with three plays in repertoire.

"The Tempest" is one of three shows in repertory with "Macbeth" and "Much Ado About Nothing."

Turkey Drawing Nov. 21

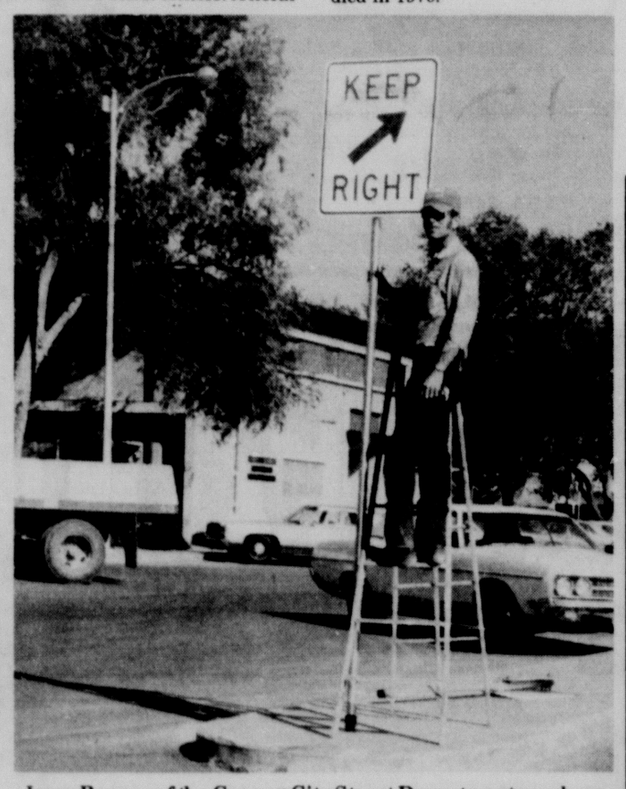

An added bonus is in store for residents of Canyon, beginning Nov. 13.

The News, along with 29 local, participating merchants is sponsoring a Thanksgiving Turkey Give-A-Way — 10 free turkeys to be handed-out in a drawing Nov. 21 at 5 p.m.

To enter, residents must fill-in the coupons on the Turkey Contest pages in the Nov. 13, 16 and 20 issues of The Canyon News. Then, deposit these coupons in the contest box located at the business named on the coupon. The contest is open to everyone excluding the employees and families of sponsoring merchants and the Canyon News. Only one turkey may be won by a family and you do not have to be present to win.

Coupons can be deposited until 4 p.m. on Nov. 21 and depositors are restricted to those 16 years of age or older.

In the event you have already purchased your Thanksgiving turkey — in the true spirit of Thanksgiving, try entering in the name of a needy family.

Jerry Renner of the Canyon City Street Department was busy on the square Friday afternoon placing a "keep right" sign at 5th Avenue and 15th Street corner of the courthouse square. The sign was being lifted to a 7-foot level in order to meet state regulations. The previous sign at the site was about 4-feet high and was often overlooked by motorists due to being at the level of parked cars in the area, noted Renner.

Funeral Rites For Howard, 66

Funeral services for Clarence E. Howard, 66, will be held at 2 p.m. today, Nov. 6, at Schooler-Gordon Funeral Chapel in Canyon.

Mr. Howard lived at Rt. 1, Box 290, Canyon (north of Umbarger) and died at his home Tuesday, Nov. 4. He was born January 17, 1909 at Leedey, Oklahoma.

He had farmed in the Bushland area for seven years before moving to the Mack Forrester Ranch, 6 miles north of Umbarger, where he had served as foreman for the past 26 years. He was a member of the University Church of Christ in Canyon.

Bob Crass, minister of the University Church of Christ, will officiate at the funeral rites this afternoon and burial will be at Memory Gardens, Amarillo. Pallbearers include Ernest Stocker, Melvin McClure, Benny Lippold, Richard Forrester, Carroll Mack Forrester and Noble Brown.

Survivors include his wife, Ernestine of the home; three daughters, Mrs. Gene Golson of Georgetown, Mrs. Godfrey Frische of Hartley, and Mrs. E. G. Mitchell of Amarillo; one son, Robert Howard of the home; two sisters, Mrs. Joe Skelton and Mrs. Floy Peck, both of Leedey, Oklahoma; two brothers, Emory Howard of Sunnyvale, California and Elvis Howard of Modera, California; and 10 grandchildren.

Retired Teachers Meeting On Nov. 7

The next monthly meeting of the Amarillo chapter of the National Retired Teachers Association will be held at 12:15 Friday, Nov. 7, at the Lee Bivins School in Amarillo. This meeting will serve as a section meeting of the District XVI convention of the Texas State Teachers Association meeting in Amarillo on that date.

The chairman of this sectional meeting is Mrs. Alma Perkins of Canyon and the speaker for the luncheon will be Mrs. Ruth Holladay, Curriculum Director of Canyon High School.

Forty retired public school and university teachers in Canyon are members of the Amarillo Retired Teachers Association.

The president of the association is Dr. Crannell Tolliver and the first vice-president is Dr. Ruth Lowes. Three other Canyon members are chairmen of important committees: Mrs. Alma Perkins, Ted Reid, and Mrs. Virginia K. Allen.

West Texas State University Fine Arts Building

FAB To Be Ready In 20 Months

In approximately 20 months, students and faculty members in the departments of speech and theatre, music and art will move into the new Fine Arts Building at West Texas State University.

Construction of the new building is expected to be completed for occupation for the fall semester of 1977, said Dr. John Green, dean of the School of Fine Arts.

The two-story structure will be officially named between now and the time of completion, Dr. Green said.

Wood and Associates of Dallas designed the building and Reid and Gary Strickland Construction Company of Amarillo is building the structure.

Construction bid totaled $2,683,900 at a cost of $33.28 per square foot. A cost of $806,100 has been set aside for furnishings and equipment which will be approved in three to six months, Dr. Green said.

The new building will accommodate the entire Art Department which now has classes and offices in the east end of the Fieldhouse, the Applied Science Building and the present structure.

The Music Department will use one-third of the new building and will continue to use the present building, Dr. Green said. Speech and Theatre will absorb rooms now being used by the Art Department in the present building.

Located east of the present building and north of the University Complex South, the new Fine Arts Building will include an outdoor Greek theatre flanked by grass slopes on three sides. A section of Victory Drive, which runs north to south between the present FAB and the UCS, will be blocked off to accommodate the outdoor theater. Traffic will be rerouted.

Another feature of the building will be a recital hall seating 600 or twice the size of the Branding Iron Theatre in the present building. A practice and dressing room will be provided for guest artists. Above the audience, a floor will be built for musicians and spotlights.

The first floor will also include an organ studio for organ instruction and will seat 50.

A new dance studio will be added in the building and will include an office for staff members of "TEXAS," the outdoor production presented each summer in Palo Duro Canyon. Cast members of "TEXAS" will use the dance studio for rehearsals from May to June, Dr. Green said.

"The studio won't replace the Branding Iron Theatre. It will just take off the tremendous demand for the BIT," he explained.

A student gallery will extend from the first to second floor. The gallery will be complete with skylight and casual furniture where students may study and relax. The gallery will also be used for informal art shows and student recitals, Dr. Green said.

The first floor will also include music classrooms and music faculty studios, the dean's office, an art slide library, a teaching gallery, art rooms for crafts, ceramics, sculpture and metalsmith classes. Kilns and furnaces will be built outside the patio on the northeast side of the building.

Second floor facilities will include the upper student gallery, upper recital hall and upper organ studio.

The second floor will house an electronic music studio and a new music library, which will be twice the size of the present facility. Rooms will be provided for psychological and acoustical testing in music therapy.

Art faculty offices, music faculty studios, music classrooms, practice rooms, a percussion studio, a frame shop, and art classrooms for graphics, oil and watercolor painting, drawing and textiles will be on the second floor. A special classroom for commercial art will also be provided.

Construction will include a reinforced concrete structure and face brick exterior walls.

Area for the first floor will be 46,695 square feet and 33,650 square feet for the second floor.

Robert The Robot Teaches Reading

There's a new kid in school and he's helping first graders at Gene Howe and Rex Reeves with their reading.

"Robert the Robot" is a brightly colored little wooden blockhead developed by an Amarilloan as a teaching toy.

Canyon teachers are using Robert to teach beginning sounds. A large card containing a picture of an object is placed in front of the machine. Next the child slides a smaller card bearing a different picture into a slot in the top of the toy, pulls Robert's nose and watches what happens. If the pictured object begins with a sound similar to the large picture, Robert keeps the card. If the first sound is not similar, and the answer incorrect, Robert spits it out a slot in his mouth.

The teaching machines created a great deal of excitment at the schools when they arrived Monday and teachers worked overtime to prepare card sets for students to use.

At about $15 for the machine and one set of cards, Robert was unusually inexpensive for an educational tool, Mrs. Vondean McGregor, curriculum director said. The apparatus was purchased for each first grade class.

While the robots are being used for first grade reading now, they can be adapted for use in other subjects and grade levels.

"Robert The Robot" is a new learning tool for first grade students as Laurie Parks and Russell Kershen demonstrate the robot's abilities under the guidance of first grade teacher, Carol Ratliff.

Prof. Eyeing Taste Of New Lake Water

How will Lake MacKenzie's water taste once the lake has filled enough for municipal use?

"We're not sure yet, but we don't think it will be as bad as Lake Meredith water," says West Texas State University Biology Professor William A. Cooper.

Cooper closed down his ten-year water quality study of Lake Meredith to begin his work on the slowly-filling Lake MacKenzie, which will eventually supply the water needs of Silverton, Floydada, Tulia and Lockney.

He and his WTSU graduate assistant, Britt Canada of Sunray, are making bi-monthly checks on the lake's dissolved mineral content and oxygen level.

"We are trying to establish trends in water quality of man-made lakes," says Canada. Any correlations they can establish could be used by water treatment plants to produce the best-tasting water possible for their cities and by the scientific community as well in a field which has been little studied.

If Lake Meredith is any example, Lake MacKenzie's dissolved mineral content will slowly rise with the lake level. Currently about 30 feet deep, MacKenzie is far from its 150 foot capacity.

High levels of sulfates and sodium account for the strong taste in water. MacKenzie's total dissolved mineral content is 450 milligrams per liter of water at present, while Lake Meredith's is 1200 parts per liter and stabilized.

The minerals enter the reservoir through the inflowing streams and the leaching of the lake bed. Cooper and Canada have been taking water samples from the streams since 1974, when the lake began filling, and have added another sampling station at the dam.

Canada has already noted a high flouride content in the streams that are feeding the lake, which is one of 15 minerals he tests for in the lab.

Canada will compile his data into a master's thesis in the spring. The son of Rev. Roy Canada of Sunray, he will graduate from West Texas State in biology with an emphasis in ecology and limnology.

Eagles Plan Crowning

The Canyon Eagles will crown their football queen about 7 p.m. Friday before they take the field to test the Muleshoe Mules in a conference game.

The dads of Eagle players will be honored during half-time ceremonies at the game.

Following the game, the Eagle Booster Club will host a social in the high school commons area.

Hungry Artists Win

Canyon's Dave Corley and Lloyd Welch placed third for their booth in the Hungry Artist Show held recently in Amarillo.

Welch and Corley showed Texas-outline plaques decorated with barbed wire for sale at the show and their booth placed third among 205 booths. As third place winners, the two men won a $50 gift certificate.

Rodeo Sweetheart Crowned

Sandi Smith, Britt, Iowa sophomore, has been chosen Rodeo Club Sweetheart at West Texas State University.

She will represent WTSU at the national Miss College Rodeo finals at the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Finals in Bozeman, Mont., in June.

Chosen from a field of 11 contestants, Miss Smith was judged on 60 percent poise, personality and beauty and 40 percent riding ability. She received a silver engraved belt buckle.

Miss Smith was a finalist in the Miss WTSU pageant in October and is a member of the Student Senate.

WTSU is a member of the southwest region of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association.

Violin, Cello Concert Sunday

James Wolden, Amarillo senior, will be presented in a violin-cello recital at 3 p.m. Sunday in the West Texas State University Branding Iron Theatre.

Selections will include "Suite No. 3 in C for Unaccompanied Cello," Bach; "Sonata No. 3 in A, Op.69," Beethoven; "March" from "Music for Children," Op. 67, Prokofieff-Paitigorsky; and "Concerto No. 1 in A minor, Op.33," Saint-Saens.

Wolden will be accompanied by Betty Hood on the piano.

Wolden is a member of the WT Orchestra, cellist with the Roswell, N.M. Symphony and a former member of the Amarillo Symphony and the WTSU String Quartet. He was the winner of the first annual WTSU Concerto Competition.

A student of Sara Montgomery, WTSU assistant professor of music, Wolden is the director of music at St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Wolden is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L.G. Wolden, 1301 S. Travis.

Cyclethon Rider Awards

Randall County unit of the American Heart Association will be presenting the top riders from the recent Cyclethon fund raising effort with prizes on Friday evening, Nov. 7.

The presentation of awards will be conducted as a pre-game event when the Canyon High School Eagles take on the Muleshoe Mules at Kimbrough Memorial Stadium, 7:30 p.m.

Reggie Reeves, president, will present the divisional awards including a Western Flyer bicycle from Western Auto of Canyon for the elementary category; a John Deere bicycle for the junior high section from Texas Tractor Company in Amarillo; a citizens band radio from CB Center midway between Canyon and Amarillo for the high school-college section; and a 100 pound beef package from Happy Hereford Ranch for the adult division.

All cyclethon riders were responsible to obtain their own sponsors for the ride, collect and turn in their proceeds. Selection of the winners was being determined at a regular unit meeting of the Heart Association Wednesday afternoon.

Envick Editor Of TIA Journal

Dr. Donald Envick, chairman of the Department of Industrial Education of West Texas State University at Canyon, Tex., has been named editor for the "Journal of Texas Industrial Arts Association."

The TIAA Journal is published quarterly by the Texas Industrial Arts Association.

Dr. Envick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Envick of Kearney and is a graduate of Kearney State College. His father Maynard is assistant professor of industrial education at Kearney State.

Local Teachers Take Lead In TSTA Meetings

While school children will have a holiday Friday, Canyon teachers won't get a day off. Instead, they will either attend the District XVI meeting of the Texas State Teachers Association in Amarillo or will study drug and crime prevention instruction at an in-service workshop at Rex Reeves Elementary School.

Canyon teachers holding a number of key chairmanships will begin meetings Thursday afternoon when Herman Demas, a junior high teacher and president of the Randall County TSTA, will chair the meeting of the resolutions committee.

Other committee chairmen from Canyon include Luther Lawless, principal of Gene Howe Elementary School, and district TSTA treasurer who will preside over budget hearings, and Ruth Holloday, secondary curriculum director and chairman of the instructional services committee.

The House of Delegates will meet later that evening with local delegates Demus, Fred Stoker, Treasure Brasher, Bryce Slack, Penny Allen, Donna Wilson, Ruth Holloday, Luther Lawless, Jean Galloway, Alicia Neimeier and Patsy Sommer attending.

Other local teachers will take part in the sectional meetings to be held Friday. These include Bonnie Gist, special education counselor, who will chair the meeting of the council of exceptional children; Jane Westberry, CHS teacher, vice chairman of the English sectional meeting; Carroll Killingsworth, CHS counselor, speaker for the English meeting and Mary Jane Reeves, CHS teacher, chairman for the foreign language sectional meeting.

Others include Hazel Sunderman, CJHS librarian, chairman of the library sectional meeting; and Elizabeth Wilson, Gene Howe librarian, vice-chairman; Jimmie Little, CISD speech therapist, chairman of the Panhandle Speech and Hearing Association; Dave Corley, principal of Canyon Junior High, secretary and treasurer of the Panhandle School Leaders Association and chairman of the secondary principals group; and Mrs. Holloday, who will speak at the retired teachers sectional meeting.

Diamond Dishes Occasion Entertains Sorority Here

An afternoon featuring 'Diamond Dishes' was conducted Sunday at the Larry Brandon home, 1102 Creekmere, by the Canyon Alumnae Association of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority.

The tasting tea was attended by about 75 local and area sorority alumnae, active members from the collegiate chapter at West Texas State University and several mothers.

A blue and white carnation centerpiece decorated the refreshment table which was laid with a cutwork linen cloth as coffee and tea were served to complement the assortment of candies, cookies, cheese dips, party sandwiches, popcorn and cereal tidbits and other types of fingerfoods.

The assorted party foods were featured in a special recipe booklet prepared by the chapter and distributed at the event. The booklets, which feature an assortment of festive party foods, are available to the public at $1 and include over 20 special recipes from the sorority membership. The booklets are available by calling Mrs. Brandon, 655-7630.

Proceeds from the sale of the recipe booklets and other projects of the sorority are used for their philanthrophy projects. Locally the alumnae chapter provides hand puppets to the Palo Duro Hospital for young patients entertainment during their convalescence and hospital stay.

Coordinating the Diamond Dishes Day event was Mary Harrison with committee leaders including Marita Crowder, invitations; Laura Hall, decorations; Carolyn Blackburn and Katie Chitwood, recipe booklets.

Weekend Event Set For Church Group

Only 47 Days Left Until Christmas

By DORIS McKEE

WELL, HERE IT is another day and another week. Ole man sun sure does rise early now and it seems bedtime takes forever after the sun goes down.

Guess we'll get use to it after a few more weeks.

CHRISTMAS IS COMING! Do you realize that it's only 47 more days until Christmas Eve? Where oh Where, does the time go?

I have been starting my shopping for a couple of weeks now. I hope to have most of mine done by Thanksgiving.

* * *

MY MOTHER, MRS. E.M. Weaver of Lubbock, came up Thursday afternoon and spent the entire weekend with my family. I am most greatful for all she does.

TALKED TO SHARON Shipley Monday night. She, Roscoe and Brent went to Plainview and spent the weekend.

They visited Roscoe's folks Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Shipley and spent the night with Sharon's folks, Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Hancock.

LAST THURSDAY NIGHT, Katie, Davia and Kathie Rinne, also Tod McKee drove Albert to the airport where he caught a plane to Fort Worth.

He flew down to help some very dear friends who were transferring to Amarillo. They arrived Friday evening. It had been quite a drive from Cleburne, Texas to here.

Kenneth and Pat Dont along with the children, Kim Chris and Rayanna have moved into an apt. in Canyon. Kenneth is employed by Santa Fe.

* * *

TALKED TO MRS. Rex Holbart Monday. She and Rex are doing OK.

Mrs. Holbart said she has a brother-in-law in Northwest Texas Hospital. We certainly hope his stay there will be short and that he'll be back to good health soon.

* * *

OLETA POTTER'S MOTHER, Susie Singletary, is in the hospital. She is better and hopefully will be dismissed in a few days.

* * *

CALLED EUNICE RINEHART to see what she and Barney were up to. Eunice said they had been staying pretty close to home. They did go to see Charolete and Tom McWilliams Sunday afternoon.

* * *

I HAD A nice visit Sunday afternoon from a good friend, Joan Barnett.

* * *

SEEM'S PECK AND Faye Risner made a trip to Oklahoma City. Peck had to go to the V.A. Hospital for a check-up on the ear surgery he had done earlier this year.

* * *

TODAY IS ROYCE and my 16th Anniversary. Never was sure we would make it this far, but since we have, I bet we can and will go on and celebrate many, many more.

* * *

THE HALLOWEEN CARNIVAL turned out real well. Had a very good crowd and everyone seemed to have a great time.

Several boys here in the park got together and put together a good spookhouse. They charged 10 cents a person to go through it and I noticed some of the kids went through several times.

Upstairs we had darts, the fishing well, apples on strings and bobbing for apples. Everyone stayed busy. We also sold hotdogs, dill pickles, coffee and Witches Brew.

At 8:00 o'clock we had the costume promenade and the judges, Jo Fulkerson, and Pat and Tex Reed looked over each and every entry and we awarded three prizes.

First prize of $3 went to Shannon Jones, age 12, of 204 Loma Linda. He was dressed as a girl. His parents are Sharon and James Jones.

Second prize of $2 went to Pricilla Couch, age 6 months, of 216 La Fiesta. She was a gypsy. Her mother is Melody Couch.

Third prize of $1 went to Kelly Whirley, age 7 of 203 La Fiesta. She was a Japanese giesha. Her parents are Fran and Red Whirley.

We want to recognize the ladies who worked at putting the carnival together and seeing that it went off smoothly. They are, Jo Fulkerson, Raylene Qualls, Modene Weed, Fran Whirley, Ann Rebeaud and myself. We had help from Alma Bliss of the McCormick Road Mini Mart also, and want to thank everyone who helped in anyway.

* * *

SCHOOL WILL BE out tomorrow for a teachers' meeting. If you plan to make a trip, please drive safely and friendly.

TO ANYONE INTERESTED in following the Canyon Eagles in their bid for district, the Canyon Booster Club will charter a bus for the November 14th game at Levelland. This will be the Eagles last district game, so if possible go and back them all the way.

The bus will leave by 4:30 p.m. on Nov. 14th. Cost is $6 per person. If you are interested, please call Melvin Edes at 622-0221 after 5:00 and let him know. LET'S BACK THE EAGLES — THEY ARE OUR TEAM!

TIME TO SAY so long for this week, but will be here next time, so Keep on Reading.

Thought for this week "Live one day at a time. Yesterday has gone and you have no idea what tomorrow will bring."

See ya.
